In Santa Clara county

Campbell is one city in seven with falling property tax rate

Campbell was one of the seven out of 15 cities in the county in which the overall property tax dropped this year.

The highest code area within the city reveals a drop of .714 from last year with a rate of $12.032 compared to $12.746 per $100 assessed valuation for the same code area.

The county tax rate, applied to all cities and unincorporated areas, remains at $2.626 per $100 assessed valuation while the total taxes for education (ranging from elementary through junior college) dropped .75 from $7.96 to $7.21.

This year's tax breakdown: city, $1.68; schools, $7.21; special districts, $.207; total $12.032.

Last year's: city $1.86; schools, $7.96; special districts, $.208; total $12.746.

In order to finance the county library system expansion, the library tax went up 1.8 cents to 26.3 cents. Campbell is one of nine cities in the county that is part of the county library system.

In addition to Campbell, taxes dropped in Gilroy, Los Gatos, Santa Clara, Milpitas, Cupertino, and Saratoga.

Although Los Altos took a 6.5 cents hike, that city still has the lowest rate in the county with $10.35 per $100 assessed valuation.

And despite a tax drop of $1.247 per $100 assessed valuation, Milpitas still has the dubious distinction of having the highest tax in the county with $13.149.

Here is the "ranking" of the cities between Los Altos and Milpitas:

Santa Clara, $10.64; Mountain View, $10.83; Palo Alto, $11.315; Gilroy $11.426; Cupertino, $11.508; Sunnyvale, $11.65; Saratoga, $11.685; Campbell, $12.032; Monte Sereno, $12.26; Los Altos Hills, $12.40; San Jose, $12.62; Morgan Hill, $12.683; and Los Gatos, $12.775.

Thanksgiving service

Campbell's community Thanksgiving service will be held Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Campbell high school auditorium.

For the second year, the combined Protestant-Catholic service will be held with a joint choir of more than 100 voices from several local denominations. The service is sponsored by the Campbell Ministerial association.

Police auction to offer bikes, tools, radios

Carpentry tools, a shotgun rack, radios and cameras and 26 bicycles are among items to be auctioned by Campbell police this Saturday, Nov. 17, at the Campbell Service center, 290 S. Dillon ave. The sale begins at 10 a.m.

Captain John Butler will serve as auctioneer.

The lost or stolen articles are sold at auction twice each year. Proceeds go into the city's general fund.

Quake scores 4.5 on Richter

A few broken dishes and many shattered nerves were the only local damage wrought by the earthquake Monday morning.

Anxious calls came into the city hall switchboard and Campbell police but no damage was reported.

The tremor registered 4.5 on the Richter scale and was reportedly centered near Santa Cruz.

INSPECTING some of the bicycles to be auctioned off this Saturday is Campbell police agent Paul Schommer. The semi-annual sale gets underway at 10 a.m. at the Campbell Service center, 290 S. Dillon ave.

At council meeting

Fireworks ban urged

By a 3-2 vote, the city council on Monday night by resolution recommended that the county supervisors adopt an ordinance completely banning the sale of all fireworks within the limits of Santa Clara county.

The action, which had been requested by the Santa Clara county fire chiefs association, came after more than an hour's discussion during which proponents and opponents had their say.

Mayor Dean Chamberlin defended the sale of safe and sane fireworks and submitted that he had been chairman of his Kiwanis club fireworks sale project for 12 years and, in his opinion, that the number of people hurt from fireworks was no greater than those injured by bikes. He also emphasized the many worthwhile projects his service club was able to carry out from the funds derived from the sale. Banning fireworks would be a colossal mistake, he maintained.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch agreed with Chamberlin and said that, in his opinion, there was nothing wrong with safe and sane fireworks. His motion to oppose the ban lost on a 3-2 vote. (Mayor Chamberlin had to turn the gavel over to Vice Mayor Norm Paul in order to second Doetsch's motion.)

Paul and Councilmen Rusty Hammer and Bill Podgorsek opposed Doetsch's motion. And the same alignment held true when Hammer moved that the city council support the ban.

Before voting Podgorsek emphasized that he would only be in favor of the ban if all the cities and the unincorporated areas would go along with it. He maintained that the recommendation to the supervisors did not automatically put the ban into effect in Campbell. However, his fellow councilmen indicated that the implication was there.

The presentation for the ban of fireworks in the county was made by Battalion Fire Chief Sal Leonardi, who was substituting for Fire Chief Gene Borden.

Chief Leonardi submitted there had been three grass fires and three structure fires directly attributable to fireworks during the past year and that three small children had been hurt.

Upholding the sale of fireworks was Leo Crawford, representing the fireworks industry, who presented a lengthy argument for allowing sale and use of fireworks.

Tom Prebil, president of the Campbell Jaycees, told the city council that his organization derived a major part of its income from fireworks sale but that the Jaycees differed with Mayor Chamberlin's point of view. If the council favored the ban, the Jaycees would cooperate.

Representatives of several other organizations defended the sale of safe and sane fireworks.

The supervisors are scheduled to act on the ban on Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Man killed in dispute at cocktail lounge

For the second time, since the city was incorporated in 1952, there has been a murder in Campbell.

Last Friday, Douglas James Hall, 20, of San Jose was stabbed, along with two companions, during a dispute in front of a local cocktail lounge. He died early Saturday at Campbell Community hospital.

The fight occurred in the same parking lot where Burl Fortney, 65, was shot to death in May, 1971. According to police reports, the victim was stabbed outside Cisco's Cocktail Lounge, 723 W. Hamilton ave., after an argument erupted in the bar between Hall and his assailant.

Also stabbed were two other San Jose men. Gary Eben, 21, was in critical condition in the intensive care unit of the hospital following surgery early Saturday for stomach wounds. The third man was treated for knife wounds of the leg and released.

The suspect was described as a white male 21 to 25 years of age, approximately 6 feet tall, weighing about 210 pounds. He was wearing a cut-off denim jacket carrying the insignia "Unforgiven Sinners" on the back.

A female companion, who fled with the suspect in a late model copper-colored pickup camper, was described as 21 or 24 years of age, with long blond hair.

On Monday night, the Campbell police arrested Ruoert Jennings Payne, Jr. of San Jose in connection with the fatal stabbing.

Chamber offices to move from Rincon to Central

Almost eight years of occupancy of office in the Pines Plaza building at 100 W. Rincon ave. will end on Feb. 1, 1974, when the Campbell Chamber of Commerce moved into office space in "The Factory" at 93 S. Central ave.

"The Factory" is the new cultural, entertainment, commercial and dining center being developed from the former Sunsweet packing plant.

Ed Fabbri, president of the chamber, said a lease agreement will be signed with "The Factory" officials for 690 square feet of office space. Homer Hyde, a member of the chamber board of directors, was chairman of the site selection committee that negotiated for the lease arrangement with "The Factory."

The new office will be partitioned similar to the present quarters in the Pines Plaza building and located off the "mall" on the right of the main entrance to "The Factory" on Central avenue.

The Chamber of Commerce office was moved to its present location in March 1966, when Dick Hardy was president and Jim Duffield was manager. At the time, the Pines Plaza building was owned by Mrs. Connie Russo.

The building is now owned by Jack Dawson, local attorney and associates. Dawson has offices on the second floor of the building but plans to reserve the lower floor offices for attorneys, which would necessitate the chamber moving its offices to the second floor.

MINI TWIRLERS from Hazelwood school, "The Bonnie Rosettes," recently took part in their first parade, the Nov. 11 Armistice day parade in San Jose. Coming up for the local group is the Nov. 23 Christmas parade in San Jose and the Dec. 1 Los Gatos Christmas parade.

Council confirms action

Library contract officially awarded

Official awarding of the contract for Campbell's new library took place on Monday night when the city council confirmed the action taken on Oct. 29 when R. L. Carroll of San Jose was determined to be the low bidder for the project with a bid of $694,382.

Before the council could award the contract, however, the county supervisors had to give their approval to the low bid because it will be built by the city under a joint powers agreement with the county. The city will construct the facility and then lease it to the county library system.

Acting County Librarian Barbara Campbell (who has been appointed librarian effective Nov. 19) had informed City Manager Bob Stephens that the supervisors had approved the bid on Nov. 7.

At the same time, the county's allocation of $265,000 was transmitted to the city. At the meeting Monday, Mrs. Jeanette Watson, co-chairman of the citizens committee in 1967 for the library bonds, presented a facsimile of the $265,000 check (which she told the council had already been deposited) to Mayor Dean Chamberlin.

Before awarding of the contract the council allocated funds on hand for special phases of the construction.

After considerable discussion, the council approved using $25,000 of revenue-sharing funds for the community room and the balance ($2,258) from general funds.

It was also decided that the library sprinkling system costing $21,000 and the funds required for architectural services ($27,000) should be taken from the general fund also.

The council was in agreement that the new water main needed to serve the library, estimated to cost $15,000, should be paid from revenue sharing.

However, the council split 3-2 on allocation of $8,400 for the final payment on the service center. Vice Mayor Norm Paul and Councilmen Rusty Hammer and Bill Podgorsek voted to use general funds for this payment while Mayor Dean Chamberlin and Councilman Ralph Doetsch favored using revenue sharing.

Later in the meeting, two other 3-2 votes with the same alignment took place.

In one instance, Chamberlin and Doetsch opposed the council sanction of the distribution of a questionnaire developed by the Youth Commission. Chamberlin claimed the concept was too broad and would give the youths the wrong impression.

In the other case, Chamberlin and Doetsch opposed referring the problem of possible discrimination instances in Campbell to the Civic Improvement Commission. The discrimination problems are involved with the apartment licensing program that has been suggested, Councilman Hammer explained.

In October

Construction declines from previous months

Construction activity in Campbell during October showed a sharp decline from the previous months as well as the same month last year, according to Wally Byron, city building official.

The total for all permits issued during the month was only $206,437 with five permits for single family dwelling units for $131,960 representing the only new construction.

The five permits were taken out for the Dura-Style Homes on the former Amato property on E. Campbell avenue at $26,252 each.

Since the first of the year, there have been 139 permits issued for single family units totalling $3.2 million compared to 116 for the same period last year for $2.6 million. However, in October last year there were 13 single family permits and the total of all permits for the month came to $3.48 million.

Until October came along, the building permit total this year was ahead of last year. However, there is a $1.5 million decrease in permits this year to date from last, $12.6 million compared to $14.1 million.

Last year, permits for commercial and industrial buildings were far ahead of this year's totals for both categories.

Permits for alterations and additions are far ahead of last year ($827,000 compared to $446,850) and there also has been an upswing in swimming pool permits this year as compared to last ($186,868 compared to $98,500).

And the signs approved appear to be costing more this year per sign than last year. To date this year (10 months) there have been 39 sign permits for $77,250 while last year there were 44 sign permits for $44,400 during the same period.

Commission to consider plans for restaurant, handball court

Plans for a unique Chinese restaurant to be located on S. Bascom avenue and a two-story handball court facility on Salmar will highlight the agenda of the planning commission next Monday, Nov. 19.

The Chinese restaurant, which will be located just north of the Sherwin-Williams Paint store on S. Bascom, will be called "Fung Lum," according to Adrian Wilson, the architect from Los Angeles, who has submitted the plans.

In the cover letter, the architect explains that the restaurant is a development of the Pang family, headquartered in Hong Kong.

The building will have a 100-foot frontage on S. Bascom and will be 90-feet deep, set back from the street. The Chinese motif will be carried out in the design of the plaster, stone and wood structure with the area between Bascom and the building landscaped with ponds and bridges. There will be parking spaces for 97 cars in the rear.

HANDBALL FACILITY

Plans for the building that will house 10 handball courts on each of the two floors have been submitted by W. Woodruff Tompkins and Harold D. Martin. They are applying for a use permit because of the interim zoning that is now in effect for the area in which the facility is located.

The building, which will be located at 577 Salmar ave., just south of the All-State parking lot off Hamilton avenue, and across from the Gold Key furniture warehouse, will have 89 feet frontage on Salmar avenue and will be 124 feet in depth. The two-story structure will have 10 handball courts and locker rooms for men and women on each floor. It will be of concrete tilt-up construction with wood trim and compatible in design to Gold Key, according to the plans.

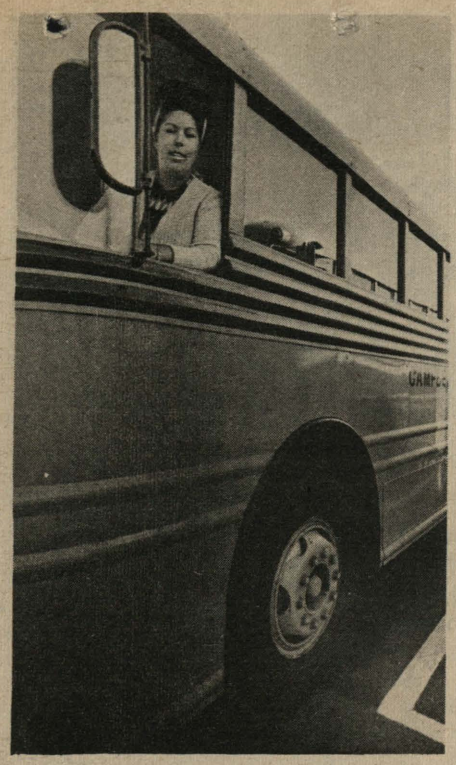
The applicants have indicated in their covering letter that they feel Campbell is an ideal location for this relatively new concept for physical conditioning facilities.

OTHER MATTERS

The long-pending and much-continued public hearing on the application of Gold Seal Realty to convert residential units at 492 Nottingham way into offices is also scheduled for next Monday's meeting.

Richard Millen, of "The Factory," at 93 S. Central ave., has applied for a use permit to modify the total gross square footage of the development which is converting the former Sunsweet plant into a cultural, dining, retail and entertainment center.

Planning commissioners are also expected to discuss the proposed change in meeting dates from the first and third Mondays to another day of the week.



ONLY WOMAN wheeling around the big buses in the Campbell Union (high) school district, Sheila Venzon, really enjoys her job.
(Photography by Gordon Lew)

Woman bus driver

Sheila loves kids, freedom

"I love the openness," said Sheila Venzon. "It's not like being in an office and the kids are fantastic."

The 26-year old Campbell woman drives one of the "big" buses for Campbell Union (high) school district.

Though this is her first year driving a bus locally, she previously worked as a bus driver for the Fremont and Milpitas school districts.

The high school district has four other women driving the district's "mini" buses, but Sheila is the only woman wheeling around the "maxis."

Married and the mother of a three year-old son and a four year-old daughter, Sheila and her husband, Tino, an electronics technician, live on Union avenue.

Drivers, including Sheila, do all their own bus washing and cleaning in addition to transporting students.

Her only bad experience driving a bus happened last year in Milpitas when, "my bus sank in six feet of mud."

She had been told to park the bus in the field behind the new high school campus. It had rained the day before, she said, and when she started to pull onto the field the front wheels sank . . . "I remember my Dad telling me about getting his car out of the mud by rocking it back and forth," she said, "so I gave it a try." It worked.

During her off-duty time Sheila likes to ski and recently took up fishing with her husband.

Her ambition? "I want to learn to drive a double-rig semi some day," she said.

Eight positions open

Nominees for board named by Chamber of commerce

Eight nominees nave been presented by the nomination committee of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce for the eight director positions that will be open on the board for the next year.

The slate of eight candidates will be presented to the general membership on the ballots that will be distributed next month. There will be spaces for write-ins, if the members do not approve of the nominations. The directors have already given approval of the slate.

Those nominated include Pete Edwards, First National Bank; Lou da Silva, Sambo's; Ed Fabbri, Bank of America; Lowell Grattan, developer; Jim Norris, Title Insurance and Trust; John (Doc) Stander, Campbell Memorial Chapel; Holly Vollenweider, realtor; and Jack Wygal, realtor.

Another vacancy on the board also must be filled, created by the resignation of Mrs. Betty Borden, who was elected last year for a two-year term. She is the wife of Fire Chief Gene Borden. Mrs. Borden informed the board that she had taken employment out of the city.

The new board along with the carryover directors will name the officers for the next year from their group.

Ordinarily the first vice president is moved up to the presidency but, it has been indicated that neither John Cooper, IBM, first vice president or Al Blaine, pharmacist, second vice president, desire to take over the president's gavel.

Indications are that Ed Fabbri, this year's prexy, will be named president for 1974.

Community Calendar

The Campbell Press will contain a "Community Calendar" beginning with the November 28 issue. Groups or organizations with December meeting dates or events should send in their notice before Wednesday, Nov. 21, to be included in the December calendar. Notices should be mailed to The Campbell Press, P.O. Box 158, Campbell, Ca. 95008: Attn: Community Calendar.

Faculty room plans approved by elementary school trustees

Drawings and specifications for faculty room additions at Sherman Oaks, Rosemary and Hazelwood schools got the unanimous approval of Campbell elementary school trustees Thursday evening.

Total estimated cost of the project is $131,900 according to Orin Bachelor, district business manager.

According to Bill Hall, of Higgins and Root, district architects, construction should take between eight and nine months after approval is received from the state Office of Architecture and Construction.

In other business the board:

- Approved the contract with George J. Wightman for maintenance of the Allendale school site. The local man harvests the fruit trees on the 10-acre unused school site. In return, he maintains the property and carries insurance holding the local school district blameless in case of any lawsuit arising from his use of the land.
- Heard a report by Superintendent James D'Avis in which he requested an extension of time to develop a "firm recommendation" on setting up a job description for an Affirmative Action officer for the district.
- Received a letter from the Campbell Elementary Teachers association announcing the newly appointed members of the Certificated Employees Council. They are: Joe Raco, Eileen Mott, Bob Radke, Chuck Allred and Steve Miller. Herb Wadley will serve as alternate.
- Heard the first reading of a proposed revision of board policy that would boost the district's revolving cash fund from $5,000 to $10,000, the legal maximum.
- Unanimously agreed to cancel the regularly scheduled meetings for the fourth Thursday in November and December. Instead, the next board meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 6.
- Heard the first reading of a proposed policy revision under the state provisions of the Stull Act. The revisions outline evaluation procedures for certificated employees of the district and gives job descriptions for certificated personnel.
- Authorized Business Manager Bachelor to be a district representative to sign for materials from the State Educational Agency for Surplus Property. Previously, Betty Brannan was the only individual in the district authorized to act for the district.
- Received a letter from the Secretary of the Rosemary Home and School club in which the executive board of the group expressed their full support of the CETA in their efforts to secure release time for organizational representatives.

JULIE SILVEIRA was recently named homecoming queen at Mitty high school. She was elected by a balloting by the high school student body.

Special care offered for disturbed children by county department

Specialized child care is available for parents of children with emotional or behavior problems, the Santa Clara county Health department announced last week.

Under the auspices of the Santa Clara County Children's Lobby, individuals have been trained and are available to sit with these children days, evenings or weekends.

The course was developed through the Metropolitan Adult Education program and taught by Jim Powell, M.S.W., director of resident services and Ming Quong Children's center.

Interested parents should contact the children and adolescent supervisor at the local county Community Mental Health center for more information.

HAZLEWOOD STUDENTS are shown working with their teacher Hugh Bonds in the new design lab. Four schools in the Campbell elementary district are using a new pilot program which emphasizes solving practical problems to prepare youngsters for the industrial-technological world.

School trustees decide not to file countersuit

Campbell elementary trustees will not file a countersuit in the condemnation proceedings which would take two-tenths of an acre of land at the Parkway school site, it was announced Thursday night.

Instead they voted unanimously to go on record as protesting the proceedings, the third condemnation by the county at the school site in the past few years.

The county plans to use the land as part of an off-ramp at the Stevens Creek boulevard, San Tomas expressway juncture.

Following an executive session earlier in the evening, Orin Bachelor, district business manager, announced, "It seems clearly evident that to protest or fight the condemnation proceedings would not be in the district's best interests."

Acting on the advice of counsel, Bachelor said, "While the county does have the greater interest of the public in mind, it is important to point out that the district does not appreciate the proceedings."

At Quito, Hazelwood

Pilot program lets kids apply what they learn

By BONNIE RICHARDSON

CHILDREN AT QUITO and Hazelwood schools are applying what they learn to solving practical problems that interest them through a pilot program called Unified Science and Mathematics for Elementary Schools (USMES).

Each school recently acquired a design lab, equipped with tools and materials, where students can construct models and work out solutions to situations they confront. Rolling Hills Jr. High and Campbell Elementary will also work with the program, according to Art E. Ring, curriculum coordinator for Campbell Union elementary school district.

To start a child on a project, a teacher will present an USMES unit, such as "Pedestrian Crossing," with a question like, "How fast does traffic move in front of our school?"

Choosing his own way to answer the question, the student can consult sets of How-to-Cards in the lab for any skills he needs to know. He might make a trundle-wheel to measure a distance on the sidewalk, time cars with a stop-watch, convert feet-per-second to miles-per-hour and plot his data on a graph. Then he can inform the administration of his school in a written and oral report whether the cars are moving at a safe enough speed for children to cross the street.

The design labs are supervised by industrial arts professor Don J. Betando, member of the national USMES Planning Committee and head of the USMES team at SJSU. He trained the lab managers for Hazelwood and Quito. "The design lab person is a unique person," he said, "one who really has knowledge in a lot of areas and reinforces the student's own teacher."

We've got to teach a problem-solving atmosphere, Betando said, integrated to prepare children for an industrial technological world. He gave pollution as an example of a problem that might not exist if students were prepared for an industrical technology.

THREE TEACHERS each from Quito and Hazelwood attended a two-week workshop in East Lansing, Mich., last summer with Davidman and Ring to train for USMES. There they attempted the 12 problem units they are using this school year.

USMES is an eight-year project of the Education Development Center (Newton, Mass.), Leonard Davidman, San Jose State University education instructor, said. Davidman, who is working with CUSD on USMES, is conducting a class at SJSU for teachers and administrators interested in the program.

BY 1976, when the program ends, the center plans to have 36 units ready for kindergarten through high school. Then the EDC, a nonprofit organization, will turn the units over to a commercial company for production as regular curriculum materials, Davidman said.

The USMES program is funded by the National Science Foundation. The NSF paid for teacher training, but CUSD has to supply lab materials. Each lab received $250 from the district, but contributions of tools and supplies for the labs are needed from the community if they are to operate all year.

Supervisors to negotiate on single bid for buses

County supervisors decided to negotiate with the one company which submitted bids for their 134 bus order rather than change specifications and send out for more bids.

But they also decided to appoint a committee to oversee negotiations with Highway Products incorporated to prevent any accusations of improper procedures.

The committee will be made up of one member from the board, one from the transportation commission and one from the county grand jury.

The decision came when supervisors decided they would rather negotiate the $1.2 million difference between the bid and county estimates than risk a 10 month delay on implementing new county-wide bus service planned for spring.

Supervisor Sig Sanchez voted against the decision, saying "I would rather be criticized for a 10 month delay than for the procedure."

Library guest will be popular youth author

S. E. Hinton, one of the most popular authors of books for young people, will appear at the Campbell library this Thursday, Nov. 15 at 4 p.m.

While a student at Will Rogers high school in Tulsa Okla., Ms. Hinton began writing "The Outsiders," a book which has brought her literary recognition.

The book was published two years later while she was a freshman at the University of Tulsa. In 1971, her second book, "That Was Then, This Is Now," was published.

According to Dolly Larvick, childrens librarian, Ms. Hinton's books are among those most asked for by Campbell youth, sixth grade through high school.

The author resides in Palo Alto, where her husband is a student at Stanford university.

The library is located at 349 E. Campbell ave.

For more information about the special program, contact the library at 378-8122.

Federal clean air regulations announced

Stringent federal clean air regulations aimed at pinching our pockets till we desert our cars for mass transit were detailed for Santa Clara county last week.

The regulations, which the public must comment on by Nov. 29, are planned for implementation in cities over 100,000 population July 1, 1974.

That would be San Jose and Sunnyvale in this county, but as the regulations lower population limits in 1975, Mountain View, Palo Alto and Santa Clara would also fall under them.

Included in the regulations are provisions that:

Employers with over 700 parking spaces anywhere in the Bay Area must charge employees commercial parking rates plus $1 per day. The regulation applies to lots over 70 spaces in cities over 100,000 population.

In San Jose and Sunnyvale owners of more than five free customer parking spaces will be charged $180 for each space.

Commercial garages and parking meters in San Jose and Sunnyvale must raise their rates 10 cents an hour from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays.

"It takes a lot of gull. . . "

A most unusual accident report was filed at the Campbell elementary school district office last Friday — a seagull bite on the lip.

Noon duty supervisor Lena Avila was treated at a local hospital last Friday after she came to the aid of an injured seagull and received a bite for her troubles.

Accoraing to reports, a Lynhaven student threw a rock at the bird as it flew by, stunning it. The bird fell to the ground and, as Mrs. Avila bent down to check on the bird's condition, the creature revived and bit the woman.

OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

RECENTLY WE WERE tapped lightly on the wrist by one of our favorite persons, our sister-in-law, Opal Grimes of Fresno.

Opal took exception to a reference we had made in this column recently to a couple of women of this community who had been honored by the Campbell BPW.

One was Irma Reese, director of the West Valley Progressive Seniors, who was named woman-of-the-year by the Campbell BPW.

The other was Dorothy Trevethan, city clerk, who was nominated by the local club as a woman-of-achievement on a statewide basis.

We know both of the women very well and in our column we submitted that they were deserving of the honor.

However, we wrote that "these gals were deserving —." Our sister-in-law, Opal, felt that was not the proper way to describe the two ladies.

She wrote:

"I always read "out on a limb" and enjoy your comments very much. However, I have a complaint, or rather a comment, on your recent article regarding awards given to Business and Professional Women in Campbell.

"Your comments on their work, achievements, etc., were fine — you ended your statement with 'these gals were deserving.'

"Why do you have to refer to them as 'gals'? Wouldn't 'ladies' have sounded better? I am quite sure that if you were commenting on awards given to men you would not refer to them as 'gents.'

"I am not too strong on women's lib, but there is food for thought here. Agree?"

Sorry, Opal, but we don't agree.

• • •

THIS COLUMN TRIES to have an informal, casual approach to local situations.

And, in most cases, the people who are mentioned in the column are personal acquaintances of ours, as was the case of Irma Reese and Dorothy Trevethan.

We have always felt that "gals" sounds much more friendly and personal than "women" or "ladies."

And our friendly Webster sort of bears that out . . . "gals: (informal) a girl or woman".

And the last thing we want to be in this column is formal.

Or had you noticed?

But we agree with Opal on one point. In a similar situation, if men were involved, we certainly would not refer to the men as "gents."

"Guys" maybe but never "gents."

"Guys and gals" to together, not "gals and gents."

As far as we can recall we have never used "gents" in our writings.

It's not that we are opposed to the use of slang, as you well know. We certainly use enough of it.

But it is probably because the word "gents," which Webster specifies as slang, has another connotation that is also noted in the dictionary:

"Gents (slang) see men's room."

• • •

THERE IS ANOTHER POINT we probably should mention while we are on the subject.

That is we don't use the word "ladies" either in our writings.

But for an entirely different reason that the "gents" situation.

Years ago a city editor we worked under had certain basic ground rules that we reporters had to follow or else.

Right or wrong most of the fundamentals of news writing that have become second nature to use over the years stem from that city editor's blue pencil and-or his lectures.

He claimed, for instance, that "ladies" should never be used in a news story.

"For our purposes," he would emphasize, "ALL women are ladies . . . so just call 'em women without trying to differentiate between 'em."

And that was before women's lib became popular.

We are not sure what the old boy would say if he were around today.

• • •

IN A WAY, "SENIOR CITIZEN" is sort of a vague term.

We mean there seems to be no set age where one reaches that exalted status.

Sure we know that the age 65 has been more or less established as the retirement plateau with social security and stuff sort of geared to that point in one's life.

But one can become a "senior citizen" before 65, although just when seems to vary with situations and conditions.

Take as a case in point, the proposed 130-unit apartment complex that is planned for a triangular parcel off El Patio drive.

The apartments are being "structured" for senior citizens, we have been told, and they will not be "marketable" for any other group.

And because they are for "senior citizens" a higher density will be allowed on the property than is specified in the city's general plan.

The reason is that senior citizens apparently don't generate as much t affic as younger people do because they don't have as many cars and it follows also that they don't need as many parking places.

What concerned the planning commissioners, however, was what if the apartments changed from senior citizen occupancy.

How then would the city force the developer to get more parking spaces and another access (over the railroad tracks) to the project?

AND, how is a senior citizen defined anyway?

So now it's a matter of public record.

For that particular complex, a senior citizen is anyone above the age of 58.

The developers have stipulated that one occupant of each unit must be 58 years of age or more.

They also have agreed to furnish the city with an annual "audit" as to the number of occupants and cars in the complex.

It was agreed that would be much better than for the city personnel to try to find out that information.

Asking people their ages is not always the most popular thing to do.

Even if they are senior citizens.

EVEN WITH THE PENDING fuel and energy crisis that we may be facing and the emphasis that is being placed on bicycle riding, not everyone believes that bike-riding is the answer.

In fact there are some people who are opposed to special bike routes and bicyclists in general.

We learned that recently when one of our readers called to inform us that he was vigorously opposed to the city of Campbell building any routes for bikes or doing anything special for bicyclists.

He called all bicyclists pests and dangerous to motorists. He indicated that he thought bicycling should be outlawed.

What brought on this tirade was that he had read in a recent issue that the youth commission had recommended to the city council that bike routes be made part of the city's traffic circulation plan.

The youth commission is also working on plans for a bike path along Los Gatos creek.

We couldn't help but wonder if our caller was the same motorist that almost knocked us down with his car the other day when we were pedaling along minding our own business.

But, if the guy thinks there are too many bikes now, he's got problems.

Just wait a couple of years.

BECAUSE OF NEW STATE legislation, the city election will be held in March next year instead of the usual April.

That means that the campaigning for the two city council seats that will be up for grabs will start about six weeks earlier than has been the case in the past. And the filing date will be in December.

The terms of Ralph Doetsch and Bill Podgorsek expire. Ralph is ending his third term or 12 years and Bill is winding up his first term.

Unofficially Bill Pod has informed us that he plans to run for a second term and will make the announcement "official" very soon.

We think "Bill the Pod" has done an outstanding job in his four years as councilman (He served as mayor last year) and we are pleased that he has made up his mind to run again.

Ralph has yet to inform us of his intentions officially or unofficially. When he completes his term next year, he will hold the record, along with former councilman Ed Rogers, for length of service as a councilman.

Ralph has another distinction. He is the only councilman in this city's history who was elected by a write-in vote.

He was elected to his first term in 1962 in that fashion.

And he was top man in the balloting.

Efforts to improve creek area

For years there have been sincere efforts on the part of residents of this community, as well as adjacent areas, to do something about or with the Los Gatos creek area between Campbell park on Dillon avenue to Camden avenue and beyond to Vasona.

The creek has now, as it always has had, a tremendous potential as a recreational area with bike and pedestrian trails and other features.

In addition, the creek is the show window of Campbell viewed by thousands daily from the freeway. The view now, as it always has, leaves much to be desired.

On occasion in the past, the residents have attempted to clean up the creek area and plant trees along the bank.

But in recent years, the enthusiasm of the citizen volunteers has dwindled as they realized that their efforts hardly made a dent in the picture.

For some time now, a Los Gatos Creek committee, comprised of representatives from the governmental agencies affected by the creek from Campbell avenue to Vasona, has attempted to coordinate the activities and develop a plan.

These agencies include the city of Campbell, town of Los Gatos, the county and the Santa Clara Valley Water District.

By far, the agency with the most clout is the water district, as it virtually controls the creek channel and most of the bank area.

The water district officials have indicated they will cooperate with landscaping and development and, we understand, a tentative master plan has been drafted.

The city of Campbell has earmarked $24,000 from revenue-sharing funds for creek development.

All agencies involved have indicated apparently that they will cooperate. And they are in agreement that something should be done.

Our point is just when will the action start?

Abuses cause end to brunch program

By COLLEEN ROONEY

IT ALL ENDS AT DEL MAR

Yes, the "dream-come-true" brunch program has met its death.

It was assassinated by those students who spent this 15-minute break loitering off-campus, gathering in the parking lot, and smoking in the bathrooms. Students were repeatedly warned in the daily bulletin, which they ignored.

This was the final opportunity for a brunch to be given a try at Del Mar. Two years ago a similar trial program took place and it had many of the same problems. It, too, made a rapid disappearance.

This time student council members reported the abuses and canvassed classes for reactions before voting to discontinue it.

JUNIOR MAGAZINE SALE

Once again the Junior class is selling their magazine subscriptions. The money raised in this sale goes towards the junior prom, senior ball and senior sneak day. Please help to make this drive successful — buy a magazine subscription now!

HAPPINESS IS . . .

Only three quarters to go till summer vacation! Nov. 9 was the final day of the first quarter. Smiling faces filled the halls when the last bell of the day finally rang. Just think about those first report cards coming home to your parents, and the fact that you may now be grounded from the Homecoming game and the car! But there is still hope, with 27 weeks remaining. Smile!

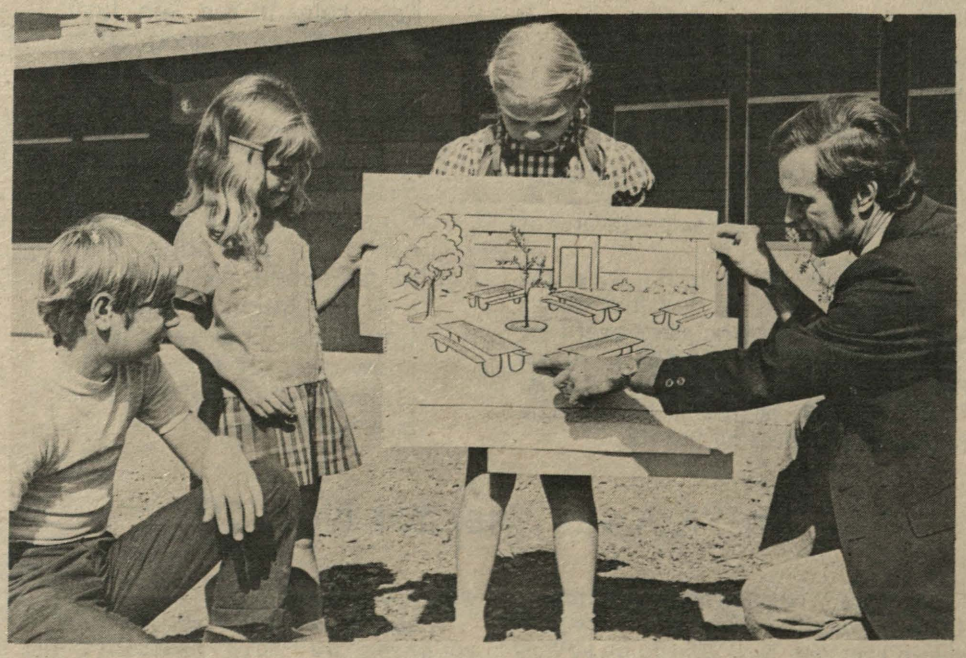
FLASH . . FLASH . . FLASH

Who is the "Ugly Man" at Del Mar? Could it be you? Key club is sponsoring this contest which is all in fun.

President Dale Roat says the "Ugly Man" will present the Homecoming Queen with flowers. A few other surprises are also planned . . . so keep listening!

PTA FIFTIES DANCE

The evening before Homecoming, the traditional grid bout with Camden, the PTA is giving a "50's" dance complete with costumes and 50's music as a reward for obtaining over $500 in PTA memberships.



PLANS FOR THE outdoor study and work area at Marshall Lane school get the once over from school principal Ken Meenecke and students, from left, John Mascali, Michele Stocking and Peggy Peterson. The local Home and School club recently earmarked $500 towards the purchase of benches to be used in the outdoor area, adjacent to the ecology area developed last year.

Senior play to feature 'theatre in the horseshoe'

By DIANE DONIELSON

UPCOMING NEWS AND EVENTS

This Friday the Westmont Varsity team meets the Camden Cougars at 2:45 on the Cat field. In spite of our present 1-5-0 record in league play, we have high hopes for another victory.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights are the Senior Class play. This year the play is "Harvey." The story is of a youthful old man and his 6-ft. tall rabbit.

This year a new innovation called "theatre in the horseshoe" will be used. The Westmont cafeteria will have its seats arranged in the shape of a horseshoe for an interesting visual effect. Tickets will cost $1.25 with valid ASB card and $1.75 for ID cardholders, guests and parents. The Senior Class has all the acting parts with help from a few underclassmen on the technical aspects of the show.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Last week, in spite of the rain, the finals for GAA tennis were held. Sue Metcalf and Janet Laufman won second place as Team 3. Pam Berg and Kathy Engelbrecht won third place consolation as Team 2. Team 1 of Patti Berg and Kathy Dees and Team 4 of Jody Tidwell and Joyce Apollo also participated in the finals. We are proud of our girls and their performance. With many of the top players returning next year, Westmont promises to have a strong team.

LIVING IN THE PAST

Last week, Westmont students had a special treat. They had the opportunity to see the popular film, "American Graffiti," at a special discount price of $1.25. Tickets usually cost $2 on a week night. This is in line with the current wave of nostalgia at Westmont. The film was so popular that it sold out before the last performance.

RETURN TO SIXTH GRADE

Sign-ups are now in progress for the second trip to Redwood Glen for Westmont seniors. This second trip will be for the week after Thanksgiving. This way, the football players, cheerleaders and band members will be able to go. Hopefully, there will be many more opportunities later in the year so that all those who want to go will be able to participate in this worthwhile adventure.

WESTMONT'S SENIOR PLAY, "Harvey," opens its three-day run this Thursday, Nov. 15, in the Westmont high school cafetorium. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. Repeat performances will be given Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.75, $1.25 for those with student body cards. Shown are, left to right, Tim Small, Dave Baum, Lisa Young, Ron Hitt, Kathy Arild, Gail Hotchkiss and Duryne McCurdy.

Hockey teams win three, two locals win big

Three of the five Eastridge ice hockey teams won in recent Northern California junior hockey association play. But two of those three victors didn't just win—they won big, really big.

The Mites recorded a crushing 19-0 victory over Marin and a day later the Squirts whitewashed Marin 12-0 on the San Jose ice.

The Mites, looking forward to an invitation to a tournament in Canada in January, put eight players in the scoring column against Marin and four of them notched hat tricks.

And while his teammates were scoring big, goalie Andy Buchanan held Marin scoreless.

Gordon Burkitt tallied four to lead the Mites and Brad Cohen, Steve Bell and Jeff Schmoke each popped in three. Kevin Breault and Rickey Pitta added two each and Chris McCargo and Jim Dibari hit one apiece.

Leading the Squirts to their big victory was Greg Powers with a three goal hat trick effort. Norm Rose and Joey Driscall added two apiece and Pat Elias, Pat Quan, Bill Breault, Scott Herbert and Pat O'Connell each fired home one.

Carl Cook was in the Squirt goal to post the whitewash.

The Pee Wees also won for Eastridge, topping Sun Valley 8-2. Their win would normally be considered a big one, but not compared to the other two local winners.

Glen Caurfield and Craig Brown each scored a pair of goals and Ryan Hopp, Jim McIntyre, Steve Powers and Rick Smithson tallied one apiece.

The Bantams lost 6-4 to Sun Valley, Steve Driscall and Steve McCargo getting two each in the loss. And the Midgets fell 5-4 to Sacramento, Barry Kitchin, Bob Dick, Jeff Ives and Bob Bergeron each scoring one.

In action this weekend, two Eastridge teams are home and the other three hit the road. The Mites host Sacramento Saturday at 4:45 p.m. and the Midgets entertain Sun Valley Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

The Squirts are in Hayward Sunday for a 7:30 p.m. game and the Pee Wees and Bantams both head for Belmont for games at 8 p.m. and 9:15 p.m., respectively.

Ladies take over for GS

Females will take over the hardwood Saturday night at halftime of the Golden State Warrior-Philadelphia 76'er National Basketball Association game at the Oakland Coliseum arena.

The Timex women's free-throw contest will begin at the game's half with five teams of two vying for prizes in the competition.

Pre-game competition will reduce the number of teams competing to five. The winning team will earn the right to represent the Warriors in national competition.

As a highlight, part of the contest will be featured in NBA film's "This Week in the NBA" in 1974 on national television.

One two-woman team will be selected in each franchise area. The reason for two-woman teams is that all free throw shooting will be made against the 24 second clock. One woman will act as the shooter and the other the rebounder.

The untimate goal is to compete in the finals on December 15 at the LaCosta Country Club in Carlsbad near San Diego.

Each member of the winning team at LaCosta will revceve a new automobile and each team qualifying for the trip to LaCosta will receive a five-piece set of luggage.

Members of the five teams competing at the Coliseum Saturday will receive Timex watches.

Sandwiched around the lady's contest will be NBA basketball. Fred Carter and the 76'ers will battle the Warriors in a game set for an 8 p.m. start.

Tickets for the game can be purchased locally at the San Jose Box Office, Carroll and Bishops and all Ticketron outlets.

Champs on parade in youth football TOC at PAL

Champions will parade across the gridiron Sunday, November 24, when the San Jose Police athletic league hosts the Tournament of Champions.

PAL youth football champions from San Francisco, Sacramento valley, San Mateo, San Jose and many other cities will be on hand for the all day event.

Games will be played in the senior pee wee, junior midget, midget, senior midget and junior bantam divisions.

The San Jose PAL teams battled through city championships last Sunday at the local stadium near Story and King roads. Results of those games will appear in next week's paper.

In most recent PAL action, teams made up regular season rain-outs.

The ABOY Wranglers held their unblemished season record and their defense remained unscored upon when they whipped the Eastside Pirates 28-2 in midget play. The same day the Almaden Warriors topped the Gold Rattlers 22-16 and the Oak Grove Raiders beat the Eastside Maurauders 12-6.

In the junior bantam class, the Almaden Braves remained without a loss with their 40-6 win over the Mission City Chiefs. The ABOY Cowboys topped the Eastside Raiders and the Oak Grove Rebels took the Black Rats 24-22.

The Milpitas Green Knights topped the West Valley Cougars 19-13 to claim the junior midget National league title. In other action, the ABOY Mavericks and Eastside Buccaneers tied 7-7 and the Silver Rattlers took the Almaden Indians 20-12.

In the pee wee play, the Eastside Crusaders bombed the ABOY Rangers 27-13 and the Almaden Scouts whitewashed the White Rattlers 13-0.

Seers miss big one in STAL, but still batting .809

What good is a great season if a team loses the big one! That's just how we feel about the Santa Teresa athletic league.

Two more correct predictions last week lifted our season record to 34-8 for a blistering .809 average. But when it came to picking the winner in the battle of the unbeatens, we blew it.

We went with Lincoln by six in their game with Pioneer. But it ended up the Mustangs by seven.

Looking ahead to finish out the season in a blaze of glory, we're out for perfection this week.

Willow Glen visits unbeaten Awalt Friday in non-league action but will fall by 16. The same day Gilroy's at Live Oak and will win by six and Saturday night Pioneer will take Leland by 12.

In the West Valley athletic league we're just plugging along with a 27-15 mark. But this week we've got them all. Camden hosts Westmont and will win by six, Leigh visits Prospect and will take a 14 point decision, Campbell entertains Branham and will be eight point victors, Saratoga will bring home an 18 point decision from Del Mar and Los Gatos will top Blackford by 18 at Helm field.

Spartan soccermen in last home test, vie for play-off berth

The last chance to see the San Jose state university Spartan soccer players in regular season home activity is Friday when they play host to the University of San Francisco in an 8 p.m. game at Spartan stadium.

In order to gain a Western regional play-off berth, SJSU cannot lose Friday to USF. San Jose boasted an 8-4-2 record before last Friday's bout with Chico.

San Jose tied UCLA on the Bruin's home field 1-1 prior to their clash with Chico.

"The tie with UCLA didn't hurt us although a win would have been more helpful," said SJSU coach Julie Menendez. The game was as close as the score indicates with UCLA outshooting SJSU just 14-13.

Brian Russell played a strong game in the goal for the Spartans, at one point blocking a Bruin penalty kick to preserve the tie.

Running duo sparks Warriors to victory

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

The Westmont Warriors went into their game with Blackford last Friday with only two running backs available for duty. But Bert Codera and Pat Owens proved to coach Don Stagnaro that they needed no more.

The two combined for 261 yards via the turf in the game to lift the Warriors to a thrilling 14-13 victory over the Braves.

Codera and Owens combined also for all 14 of the Warriors' points in the game. Codera scored a pair of touchdowns and Owens a critical two point conversion.

"We went into the game with only those two backs available," said Stagnaro. "They really did a job for us."

Codera was the game's top ground gainer with 140 yards on 10 carries. Owens picked up 121 yards on 22 tries.

Codera scored Westmont's first touchdown in the first period. Westmont took the opening kick-off and drove 70 yards for six points, Codera capping the drive with a 21 yard touchdown scamper.

Towards the end of the third period, Westmont had driven for about 20 yards before Codera got to the outside and outran everyone 60 yards to the endzone.

Trailing at that time 13-12, Westmont gave the football to Owens who bulled his way for what proved the game winning points.

Blackford had taken the lead in the second period. Jim Aiello carried two yards for the Braves' first six pointer and Mitch Flynn booted the extra point to make it 7-6.

In the third they stretched their lead with a 10 yard scoring strike from Ken Ucci to Dennis Dunnigan. The big play of the game was Flynn's missed PAT.

That just set the stage for Codera's TD run and Owens' game winning two points.

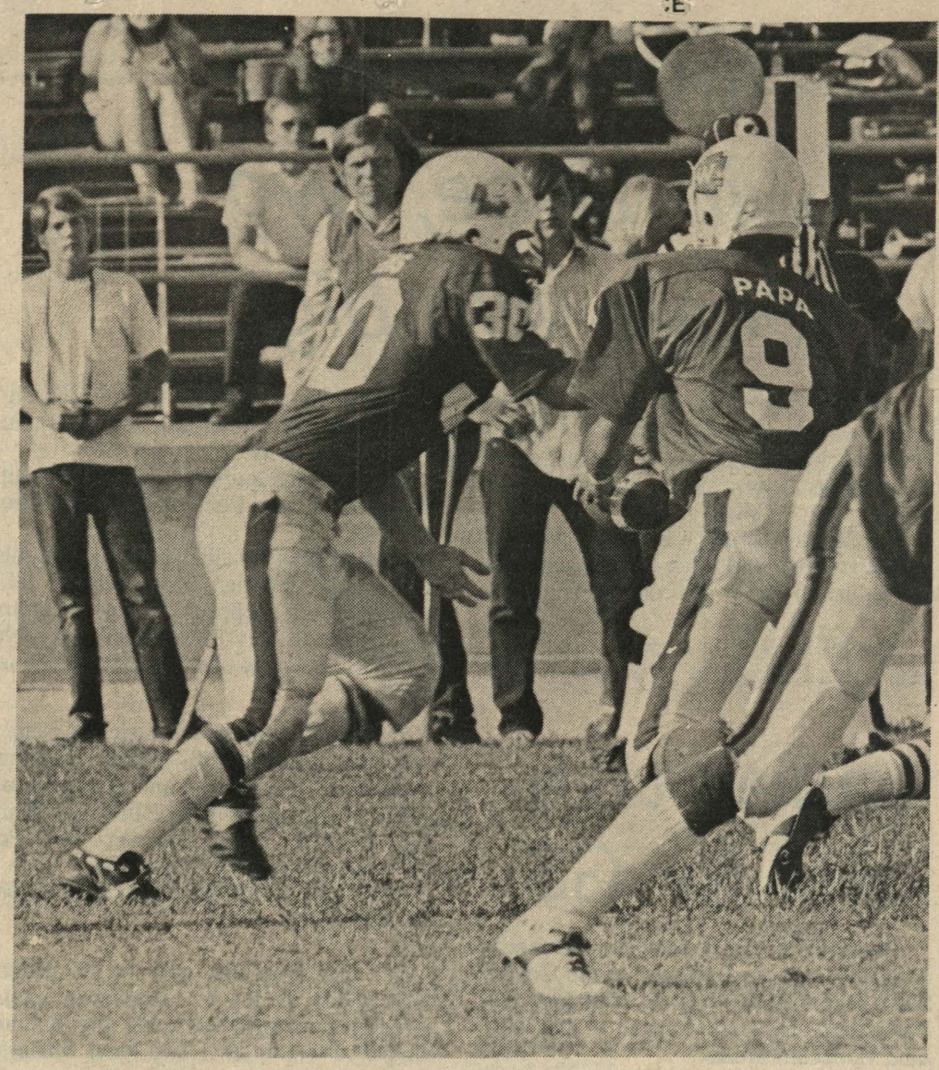
Keith Meyer and John Magee were singled out by Stagnaro for their work in the offensive line. He added that sophomore wingback Mike Roach "did an excellent job of blocking for us."

Defensively, Stagnaro was pleased with the performances of linemen Charlie Fought and Tom Espinoza.

Tom Papa picked off a Blackford pass on their last possession to linch the Westmont win.

The Warriors will look for their third win in league play Friday when they travel to Camden for a 2:45 p.m. battle with the Cougars.

That night the Braves, who have just a single win in loop action, will journey to Helm field for an 8 p.m. bout with the Wildcats of Los Gatos.



LINE PLUNGE — Pat Owens takes a hand-off from quarterback Tom Papa in early season action for Westmont. The Warrior's Owens was a key figure in last week's 14-13 win, scoring the game deciding two point conversion and gaining 121 yards on 22 carries.

Guardino firsts drive Bucs to big 19-6 WVAL victory over Cougars—hold 2nd

Tom Guardino recorded a pair of firsts for the Campbell Buccaneers in their West Valley athletic league battle with Camden last Friday. And they both led to a red and blue victory.

Guardino kicked the first ever Campbell high field goal in the long history of the school on the Buc's first ever try for a three-pointer.

And his three point boot were the first points scored in the game and led the Bucs to a 19-6 triumph over Camden high.

Guardino's 26 yard field goal broke up a scoreless tie in the third quarter and got the Buc's offense rolling.

Campbell then exploded for 16 fourth quarter points, leading to their first win in three weeks.

The Buccaneers play their last home game of the season Friday afternoon against the defensively tough Branham Bruins. The two squads are currently in a battle with Leigh for the runner-up spot in the WVAL. Game time is 2:45 p.m.

The Cougars take on Westmont, 14-13 winners over Blackford last week, Friday at home in another 2:45 p.m. contest.

Hampered by the loss of starting quarterback Jim Knight, the Buc's offense didn't start to move until the second half. Of their 272 yards total offense, 211 of that came in the last two periods.

Back-up quarterback Greg Oswald got the Buc's into the endzone for the first time early in the final stanza when he capped a long drive with a one-yard quarterback sneak. Ted Borns ran for the two point conversion.

Oswald completed a pair of clutch first down passes to Guardino and Gil DeLaPena to keep the drive alive.

The Buc qb connected on five of seven passes on the afternoon for 34 yards.

Campbell upped their lead to 19-0 later in the period when DeLaPena rambled in from six yards out to end a 35 yard march. Tom Davis ran for the two point conversion.

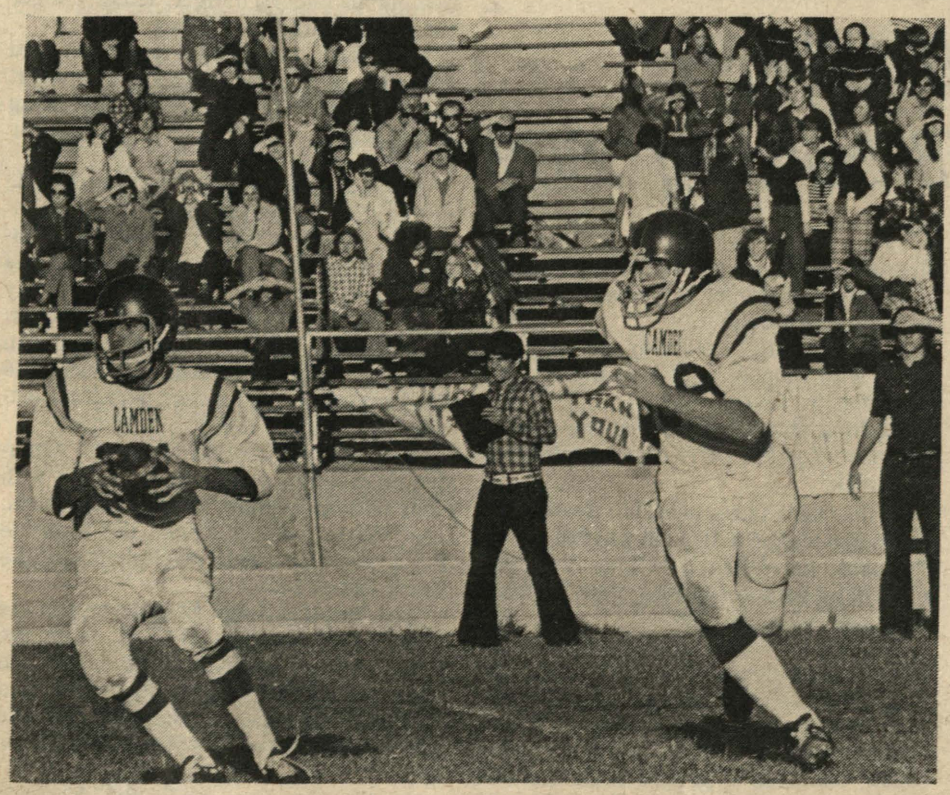
Camden put a consolation score on the board in the waning minutes of the game when Steve Wilson plunged into the Campbell endzone from a yard out.

Davis and Borns combined for almost all of Campbell's offense on the afternoon, rushing for 181 yards between them. Bornes was the top rusher for 181 yards between them. Bornes was the top rusher with 92 yards in 18 carries while Davis picked up 89 in 16 totes.

But it was the Buc defense that turned the tide of the game late in the third period. Leading just 3-0, Campbell had its back to the wall when Camden drove inside the 10 and had a first and goal situation at the eight.

But led by defensive end Jeff Stanford and tackle Terry Fitzpatrick, the Cougars lost seven yards in the ensuing four plays and Campbell took over.

Linebacker Charlie Wilcox was the Buc's leading tackler in the game with seven tackles, five unassisted.



RUNNING COUGARS — Camden running back Dave Pursey looks for daylight and fullback Al Aufang looks for someone to block in WVAL football action. In their most recent outing, Camden fell 19-6 to the mighty Bucs of Campbell high.

Sommer-led Vikings scramble to 4th CNC x-country title in a row

The West Valley college cross country team won the Camino Norte conference championship meet.

So what's new? They had to scramble to win it — now that's new.

The Vikes, accustomed to waltzing to the CNC championship, needed a pair of clutch performances from Pete Dinno (Westmont) and Tony Gutierrez (Wilcox) to pull out a thrilling 51-53 win over second place Marin.

Vikings claim first title

For the first time in West Valley college history the Camino Norte conference football championship belongs to the Vikings.

The Vikes clinched the crown last Thursday afternoon when they blanked Alameda 5-0, running their conference record to a 6-1-1 while ending Canada's two year stronghold on the CNC title.

Al DeSilva's (San Jose) two goal effort and Rich Rutger's (Westmont) fourth shut-out of the season were the determining factors in the Viking's triumph.

Mike Benton (Mitty), Denny Scott (Saratoga) and Mario Lopez (Wilcox) all contributed solo goals.

DeSilva's two goals nosed out Jim Brown (Mitty) for the team scoring title. Both booters entered the contest with nine goals apiece. DeSilva, of course, finished the year with 11.

But actually, the Vike's season is not over just yet. West Valley meets Chabot Saturday for the northern California championship. Chabot is the Golden Gate conference kingpin. WVC lost to the Owls 3-1 in a game played earlier this year.

The site of the play-off battle had not been announced prior to press time.

Although the win against Alameda clinched the title for West Valley, it was their 3-2 win over Marin that proved to be their biggest victory of the year.

Guy Hossay (Leigh) scored a pair of goals late in the game to help WVC record a come-from-behind 3-2 triumph.

Casey High (Saratoga) tallied a goal for the Vikes in the first half.

If West Valley can get past Chabot Saturday they will advance to the state championships November 24 at Cerritos college.

The win marked the fourth consecutive year the Vikes had won the league regular season championship and season ending championship meet.

"This year's race put a few gray hairs on my head," sighed head coach Bill Campbell, who has never tasted defeat in the CNC. "At the end of the first mile we were in real bad shape. Marin had seven runners head of everyone but (Matt) Sommer and (Mike) Morris. But they (WVC) really came through."

Sommer (Leigh) won the race in easy fashion, breezing across the finish line in 20:44, nearly a half a minute ahead of his closest competitor.

"Matt ran all by himself the whole race," Campbell noted. The ex-Longhorn went undefeated in the CNC in this, his freshman season.

Morris (Camden) continued to turn in his weekly steady performance by bagging a third in a time of 21:14. By finishing in the top 10, both Sommer and Morris earned all-conference honors. Sommer netted the most valuable runner plaudits by winning the race.

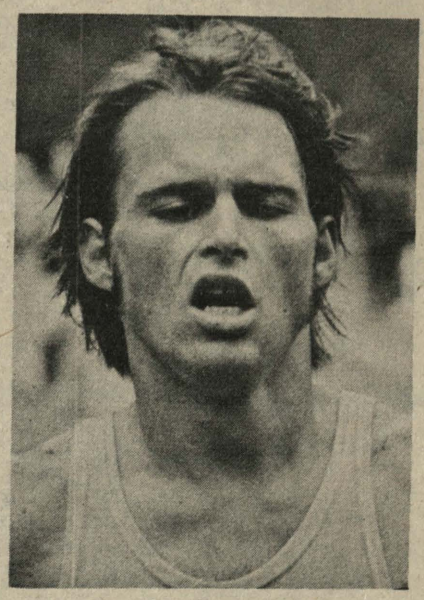
But it was Gutierrez' effort that enabled the Vikes to pull out the championship. Gutierrez outsprinted one runner in the final 100 yards to pick up a valuable point for the Vikes in finishing 24th, running nearly two minutes faster on the Crystal Springs course than he did just a month earlier.

"He (Gutierrez) ran the race of his life," praised Campbell.

Arturo Tello (Santa Clara), hampered by a shin splint, just missed nabbing all-CNC honors when he finished 11th in the race with a 21:56 clocking.

Dinno also turned in a clutch performance, coming in 15th in a time of 22:05.

The Vikes will run in the California state meet Saturday at Crystal Springs if they qualified at last Friday's northern California meet. The state run gets underway at 11 a.m.



UNBEATEN CHAMP — Matt Sommer, former Leigh Longhorn ace cross country runner, carried on his winning ways at West Valley college recently when he raced to the Camino Norte conference championship. Last year Matt won the Central coast section high school championship.

SJS hosts UC wrestling

A pair of home matches this week will kick-off the opening of the wrestling season at San Jose state university.

The Spartans will host the University of California from Berkeley Wednesday in a 7:30 p.m. match in the Spartan gym.

The SJSU mat club has been working out since October 1 in preparation for their big opener.

The following Friday, November 17, the Spartans will host their alumni in a match that will begin at 7 p.m.

Head coach Terry Kerr is quite optimistic heading into the 1973-74 season with eight lettermen from last year's championship team heading the roster.

"If we stay healthy and continue to improve our style and technique, we should definitely have a better season than last year," said Kerr.

Leading the Spartans will be returner Danny Kida, a 118 pound NCAA university division all-American last year, and Donnell Jackson, a second team all-California heavyweight in '72-73.

Returning wrestlers include 126 pound conference champ Oscar Trevino, 134 pound conference second placer Jim Lucas, 142 pound conference fourth placer Dan Cunningham, 150 pound conference fourth placer Mike Cunningham, 167 pound conference fourth placer Dean Prescott and 190 pound Carl Ekern, now on the SJSU grid squad.

Heading the list of junior college transfers are Mitch Steinauer, Tom Roberts, Steve Dick, Jim Niskanen, Randy Larson, Al Loustaunau and Jim Bedwell.

High school recruits include Matt Taylor, Gary Uyeda, Rudy Guevara, George Jaeger, Charlie McKee, Jeff Cunningham (Camden), Doug Mullins (Los Gatos),, Don Ciffone, John Sheport (Prospect), Bart Ohlson and Ranjel Marroquin.

The Spartans will also benefit from the addition of new assistant coach Tim Kerr, the Spartan team captain from 1971-73.

Hinman sets WVC scoring mark, Vikes even at 13-13

The Mt. Hamilton athletic league isn't generally regarded as a strong water-polo league.

But the MHAL turned out at least one player who would be looked upon as great in anyone's league — Blake Hinman.

The former James Lick all-American recently established a new single season scoring record at West Valley college with a four goal effort against Chabot.

Hinman's third goal in that game, which the Vikes won 9-4, was his 105th of the season, snapping by one Jerry Rentschler's (Buchser) school record set in 1968.

Since that game Hinman has rewritten his own record five times, scoring one more against Chabot, once gainst San Jose city college and three times against San Joaquin Delta last week.

His three goals against San Joaquin helped the West Valley Vikings even their overall record at 13-13 with a narrow 10-8 win.

Kevin Carver (Buchser), Paul Hendrickson (St. Francis) and Mark Lord (Wilcox) each tallied twice while Doug Wierema (Santa Clara) scored once to account for the rest of WVC's scoring.

West Valley's win against Chabot was their fourth in five conference outings. Hinman's four goals were once again tops for the Vikes.

Hinman has now led the Vikings in scoring in 22 of their 26 games and has been shut-out just twice. He has scored nine goals in a game once, seven goals two times, six goals six times and five goals five times.

Carver, who is second on the club in scoring with 22 goals, was right behind Hinman with a trio of scores. Hendrickson and Steve McFarland (Branham) each drilled in solo goals.

A modest two game win string was interrupted by San Jose city college, the Vikes dropping a narrow 5-4 decision.

WVC took a 3-2 lead into the final period only to be outscored 3-1 in the crucial fourth period. Hinman, Lord, Hendrickson and Carver each popped in a goal.

Chris Hathaway (Buchser), West Valley's standout goalie, stopped 10 of the 15 shots the Jaguars aimed his way.

Costa falls but Vikes do too!

WVC fail in miracle bid

By DAVE MENDONCA

Half of the miracle the West Valley college football team had been praying for came true last Friday night when previously undefeated Contra Costa lost their season finale to Santa Rosa, 1-3 coming into the ballgame.

The unexpected turn of events gave the Vikings their shot at a third consecutive Camino Norte conference co-championship the following night against bitter rival, De Anza.

Unfortunately, the Vikes were unable to come up with their half of the "miracle" when the Dons, striking for a lightning-quick 18 points in the first period, dumped West Valley 28-7 under the lights of Foothill college last Saturday evening.

So instead of West Valley recording their third straight co-championship, the Dons claimed their second straight share of the title. Despite the co-championship, Contra Costa will advance to the state play-offs since they beat the Dons.

West Valley's loss to De Anza snapped a four year win streak they had against the Dons and lowered their CNC ledger to 3-2. The loss dropped the Vike's overall record to 3-6, dooming them to their first losing season since 1966.

The Vikings close out their disappointing season Saturday evening at Foothill again, this time against the Owls. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Against De Anza, the game was over before the Vikes knew it. They got off on the wrong foot to start the game and never recovered.

Tim Smith (Westmont), the Vike's freshman quarterback who had done such a spectacular job against Marin the week before, fumbled on the second play of the game and the Dons recovered.

De Anza quickly turned the mistake into six points and before seven minutes had passed in the game the Dons scored twice more to hold a commanding 18-0 lead.

For Smith, it was the beginning of a long, long night. The Viking signal caller completed just three of 29 passes for just 29 yards and he was sacked six times for losses amounting to 33 yards.

"After they (De Anza) scored so quickly we had to change our game plan completely," noted head coach John Nicholas. "We let De Anza become very inspired and they went out and played their best game of the year."

While the Dons were playing their best game of the year, the Vikes were playing one of their poorest offensively.

"We didn't move the ball at all on offense," moaned Nicholas. "Nothing worked."

As a team the Vikes gained a total of just 69 yards compared to De Anza's 312. West Valley's leading rusher was Mark Loeffler (Prospect) with 17 yards in four carries.

Although Smith's statistics don't show it, he threw the ball well all night. But a strong wind that blew throughout the game caused many of Smith's aerials to sail over their marks.

The Vikes would have been shut-out if it hadn't been for a fourth quarter, 42 yard interception return by Charlie Brown (Del Mar). It was Brown's second touchdown off of an interception in two weeks. He returned one 34 yards against Marin in the Vike's 49-12 win.

Steve Nishijima (Westmont) booted the extra point. He is now 18 of 20 in the PAT department this year.

West Valley's only offensive scoring opportunity in the game went by the boards in the second quarter when Greg Wells (Buchser) missed his first field goal in three attempts this year from the 35. He had field goals of 32 and 53 yards to his credit coming into the game.

According to Nicholas, the Vikes play "pretty well defensively, except for a long bomb in the first quarter."

The Viking mentor singled out middle guard Steve Smith (Los Gatos), tackle Steve Williams (Del Mar) and linebacker Jim Wittman (Blackford) for turning in outstanding defensive efforts. Wittman was the Vike's lead tackler, registering eight tackles in the first half alone.

According to Nicholas, "Foothill is much better than their 2-7 record tends to indicate. They've really come on the last couple of games. We're expecting a tough game." West Valley holds a 2-0 series edge over the Owls, and in fact, have never let them score. WVC won last year 38-0 and the previous year 37-0.

Dons 'just rolling along', roll into 'Toga

It wouldn't be too surprising at all to see Del Mar football coach Jim Clifton walking through the halls of Donland humming the old favorite, "I'm just rolling along with the breeze. . ." this week after his club notched their third straight West Valley athletic league victory.

And that breeze could turn into a hurricane this week for Del Mar if they could post an upset victory in their battle with top ranked Saratoga high.

The Falcons, without a loss in 1973, will visit Del Mar for a 2:45 p.m. bout on Friday. "The way we've been rolling, we could give them a real ballgame," said Clifton.

The Don's most recent win was a 33-6 decision over Prospect on the DM field.

Mickey Plesha led the Del Mar effort, completing seven of 12 passes for 130 yards and three touchdowns. Kirk Poppey rushed for 88 yards on 15 carries for a 6.8 average and Ken Hightower carried four times for 76 yards. Reserve fullback Kirk Yeager gained 56 yards and just four totes.

After the two clubs fought to a 0-0 first half tie, the Dons put a pair of touchdowns on the board in the second. Plesha tossed to Wade Fernside for 50 yards and ran two yards for the two touchdowns. Jeff Harris kicked two extra points.

Brad Guenther got Prospect right back in the game in the third period when he found Nick Bibich for a 50 yard TD to make it 14-6.

The Dons came right back to make it 20-6 on a 55 yard Plesha to Fernside pass and Hightower romped 40 yards for six to up the count to 26-6.

The final Don score was the result of a 20 yard pass from Plesha to tight end Lou Valetta. Harris kicked the final point of the day.

Fernside picked off a pair of Prospect passes in the game and Jeff Neubaurer recovered a fumble to spearhead the defense.

"The entire defensive unit did a real good job in the game," said Clifton. "Except for that one play in the third quarter, we contained them pretty good."

Neubaurer "played one of his best games at defensive end" and Ken Bondelie and Ron Tedesco played tough defense.

"To be able to run like we did, our whole offensive line had to have played a good game," praised Clifton. "Our guards are just the class of the league the way they trap. We'll go up to the line and the defense will yell trap. And we'll still run it against them!"

Bondelie and Tedesco are the guards leading the Don's running game. Jeff Toews also played well, working the tackle trap. "That's the play Hightower ran all day," said Clifton.

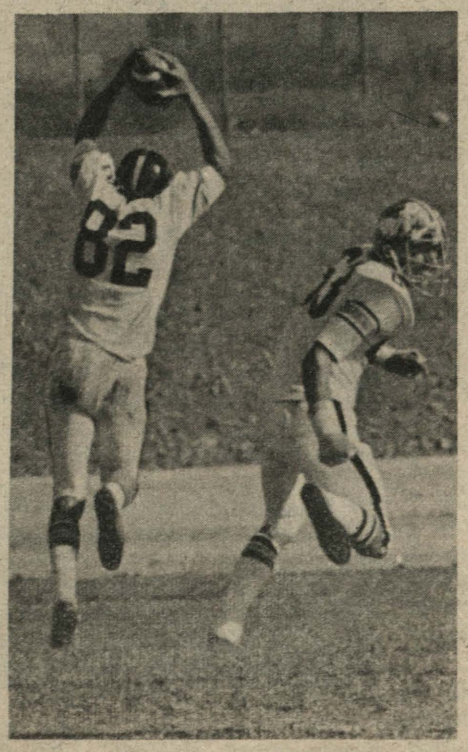
WADE FERNSIDE
DEL MAR DONS
Football . . . receiver, defensive back

The Dons won their second consecutive WVAL game last week 38-7 over Blackford and Fernside played a key role in the victory. The sticky fingered receiver caught a pair of Mickey Plesha passes for touchdowns and picked off a Brave pass for another six pointer.



For his performance in the game, Wade has been named the Campbell Press athlete of the week. Because he has been picked the week's best, Fernside will receive a free pizza at the Straw Hat pizza parlor, 1400 W. Campbell ave., and a picture of himself in action.

Fernside caught a Plesha pass for eight yards and a TD in DM's big first period against Blackford. In the third, with his club leading 20-7, Fernside grabbed a Plesha pass for 20 yards and a score. And before the final gun, Fernside grabbed one down in the defensive secondary and returned it for a score.

Others considered for this week's honor were Curtis Smith and Plesha, Del Mar football, Sheldon Henderson, Tim Bauers and Pat Owens, Westmont football, Tom Guardino and Larry LaMoine, Campbell football, Tom Blandford, Blackford football, Nick Bibich, Prospect football, and Tom Alarcon, Camden football.
